HUNGARIAN PAPER SHUT UP FOR GABBLING ABOUT THE MORRIER AFFAIR

TAR GERMANS IN SAMOA

VOTE OF CENSURE ON DR. MAKENZIE

THE PANAMA CANAL

Reading, (Penn) 10th—An appalling cyclone swept over this city yesterday. Sixty people were killed, and hundreds injured, many seriously. In the Railway Company's workshops thirty men were employed in painting cars. The cyclone sent bricks of the buildings flying in all directions, knocked over the cars, and buried the men under the ruins. The cars filled with gas and exploded. The great quantity of gazoline in the building then took fire. Some few men forced their way through the debris and saved themselves. Loss $700,000.

The Reading Silk Factory was in the path of the cyclone. It was a building four storeys high, and covered a whole square, 175 women worked in it. The whirlwind dashed this building to bits, and 200 humah beings were buried in the ruins. Their shrieks for help were heard even above the roar of the tempest.

At Montreal, Ontario, and Toronto wires were blown down in all directions. The wind blew at the rate of 70 miles an hour. Estimated loss a million dollars.

Rochfort (N. Y.), Jan. 11.—The swing pier near Niagara Falls was carried away yesterday by the tempest. This pier was completely repaired last season, and was of iron and steel. Loss $75,000. The roof of the International Hotel was also blown off. It was the greatest storm ever known in this country.

SUCCESSFLU BANKING.

Mr. Drabble's speech at the meeting of the shareholders of the London and River Plate Bank must have created a sensation in the very financial quarters where so much uneasiness and anxiety have of late prevailed, in view of the magnitude of Argentine borrowings and the immense inflation and speculation fostered in this country by the extravagant issue of so-called Cedulas or Mortgage bonds. The statement of the working of the London and River Plate Bank, as well as that of the English Bank of the River Plate, has shot through the London fog gathering round the credit of this country like a bright gleam of sunshine, and Mr. Drabble, in his speech, has set at nought all the City articles of the last three months. There is nothing like hard facts to convince the practical British mind, and all the financial rhetoric of the leading dailies and weeklies vanish into thin air before the figures of the two English Banks working in the Plate. Mr. Drabble in his speech might have said to the meeting "Circumspice" in the past and present for any such results in other banking undertakings, whether at home or abroad.

Another and perhaps not totally unexpected result of Mr. Drabble's speech is the banking competition that must necessarily spring up after such glowing results in a comparatively virgin banking field, and nobody in this market was astonished to read yesterday's London telegram announcing the starting of the new London-Argentine Bank. The amount of capital of this new concern is supposed to be four millions sterling, and the promoters are London bankers who have watched the working of the London and River Plate and English of the River Plate banks with considerable envy. The more the merrier; there is room for all, and such is the growth of our business in this market that the new bank may be actually said to meet "a long-felt want." There are, perhaps, very few of our readers who have any idea of the growth of the banking business in this market; well, we may state, that the very managers of the leading private banks here are amazed at the growth of affairs. Listen to Mr. Drabble:—

If you have taken the trouble to compare the figures of this year with those of the year 1887, you will have found, taking the balance-sheet first, that the total of the addition his year amounts to £14,288,000 omitting the smaller numerals, against £10,959,000 last year, and, analysing the items, you will have seen that the capital paid up, of course, is the same, that the notes in circulation practically represent the same amount, and on the other side, the premises and furniture we may consider also unaltered. Then you will see the reserve is increased from £290,000 in 1887 to £350,000 this year by the amount which was passed at our last meeting. Then, gentlemen, you will see the reason why this large increase arises. The bills payable, and current accounts and deposits, added together, represent in 1888 a total of £12,440,0000 against, in 1887, £9,308,000. Then, on the other hand, amongst the assets you will find that the cash in hand has increased, and is represented in this year's balance-sheet by £5,038,000, against, in 1887, £3,067,000, and bills receivable, advances, &c. from £9,217,000 against £7,858,000 Then profit and loss is, of course, carried below in larger figures, £255,239 against, last year, £187,871. Of course, gentlemen, you will conclude from such an increase that our business is a very large one indeed, and it is most satisfactory for us to be able to present a profit and loss account which shows clearly that the business we have done has been a most profitable one. Passing on, you will find that the charges for managing and carrying on the business of your bank have increased from £66,744 in 1887 to £73,956 this year; but I need not offer one word in explanation of that. The balance-sheet explains that item; we could not do this large amount of business without an increase of expense"

We can well imagine the complacency with which the Chairman produced these statements, and the unction and satisfaction with which the shareholders imbibed word by word the phenomenal growth of their business. We can also imagine the effect of such figures on the managers of London banks, and their amazement that such results should be reaped in the very field which, according to the lights of the leading financial journals, capitalists and bankers should fight shy of. Gammon! they must have muttered as they compared the croakings of financial writers with the following paragraph from Mr. Drabble's statement:

If you will recollect, that we gave you as an interim dividend 5 per cent. this year in lead of 4 per cent.; that is to say, we distributed £30,000 this year against £24,000 last and now we propose to add another 5 per cent., making 10 per cent. dividend for the year. This, gentlemen, in the mind of the board, establishes 10 per cent. as a type of dividend, and we feel every confidence in being able to maintain that. We have always stuck before to an 8 per cent. dividend and now we have got up to 10 per cent. Further, we recommend a bonus of 5 per cent., making 15 per cent distribution for the year and we propose to add the largesum of £150,000 to the reserve. (Cheers.) We also carry forward the very large balance of £43,239, and although the rate of interest, which properly appears in the balance sheet, is the outcome of bills which have been discounted and not collected, still it may be taken to a certain degree as an earnest of what is to come. It is represented this year by £68,475, against last year £55,593."

One leading bank manager must have laid down the report and said: "I'll start the London-Argentine Bank, with a capital of £4,000,000." Yesterday's telegram announces the fact.

We are inclined to think that other new banks will follow in the wake of the London-Argentine, and that British capital, far from being deterred from these shores by the faint praise of London dailies, or alarms of the Economist, Statist, Money, Bullionist, etc., will pour into the country in a larger volume than ever. This means golden prospects of cheaper money in this market, and we are badly in want of such contingents. To what extent such influx of capital will effect the stability or appreciation of the currency of the country, it is difficult to say, but none will gainsay that the effect must be favorable.

Whilst mentioning these matters, we may call attention to the amusing contast presented in the working of the reserve of both English banks in this city. Listen to the Hon. S. Carr-Glyn, Chairman of the English Bank of the River Plate:

The second item, you will see, is the reserve fund, £100,000, and I think you will observe with some satisfaction the foot note, which states that the whole of it is invested in British securities."

Now hearken to Mr. Drabble:—

"I tell you frankly that the Reserve is not invested in British Government securities, I do not think we should do wisely to keep your money in a security which gives only 2½ per cent. I cannot agree with a policy of that kind. But we have it in such a way that it undoubtedly strengthens your position as shareholders, curtailing the liability on your shares, and every year as we meet we are able to make the statement that the amount of our profit is only arrived at after making full and complete provision for all bad and doubtful debts. Sometimes we employ our funds in one way and sometimes in another, but we certainly do not employ them at the rate of 2½ per cent per annum."

Every River Plate resident will endorse Chairman Drabble's views on the employment of the reserve, and we doubt not that if the Hon. S. Carr-Glyun were to emerge from the London banking atmosphere and take a fresh view of things by a visit to the Plate, he would act on the same principle as Mr. Drabble.

To wind up, we may say that the balance-sheets of these two English banks have been the subject of leaders in all the financial journals, and that their figures have wiped out all the bad impression created recently by the heavy borrowing of Argentine states and the mammoth issue of B. Ayres and National Cedulas.

MEMS OF NAPLES.

XVIII.

It was evening as we approached Naples, and we could see from the train the flames from Vesuvius shooting up to Heaven. With mingled wonder and awe we watched the volcano as each minute we drew nearert to it, but before we left Naples, all the wonder and awe had vanished, and we became as accustomed to it as the veriest Napolitano. Naples is, we believe, the largest of the Italian cities, and with a population of over half-a-million. The railway station is a long way out, and so crowded was our train with passengers that we could not find seats for all our party in the Hotel Bus, so we had to take a cab; but judge of our surprise when the driver insisted on being paid beforehand. Mr. Cicnero was so indignant that we got out of it, and, sending the ladies forward in the bus, we determined to walk, but the road was longer than we thought, and when we had walked fully a mile along a street that appeared to have no end, we hailed another cab and at last reached our hotel, the "Geneva," situated in a fine old palace in the centre of the city, but shut out from a view of the Bay or the Volcano. The streets are all well lighted with gas, and the squares with electric light, and the push and bustle in the streets reminded us much of Buenos Aires. In Naples, however, everyone seems to live in the streets, and to eat in the streets; and at every street corner there were many little cooking stands where plates of cooked meats and delicious macaronis were served up for ten centimes per plate. Our first visit in Naples was to the celebrated Plaza Lazzaroni, crowded with people, but most shockingly dirty. Our cabman seemed to know all the people as he conversed freely with everyone he met in the plaza.

It was a most amusing sight to see well-dressed men and women standing around these cooking stalls and eating their breakfasts in the streets. In no other city have we seen the same custom. We visited the Duomo, which is a grand old church, but nothing to compare with the churches we had seen in Genoa or Milan, and in the afternoon we drove to the new and fashionable portion of the city where the Grand Hotel, and all the other swell hotels of the city are situated. There is a fine park here where the band plays every evening, and a wide carriage drive with splendid view of the Bay, of Capri, Ischia, Sorrento, Castelamare, and all the other beautiful places that adorn the matchless Bay of Naples; and here along this carriage drive are seen in the afternoon all the rich Neapolitan families and aristocratic visitors driving about pretty much the same as at Palermo in B. A. The city, it appears, is always crowded with strangers, and particularly in the winter months, in order to escape the hardships of a London and Paris winter season; although when we left Rome the evenings were sharp and people enveloped in overcoats, it was summer in Naples, and everyone in thin summer clothes. What much attracted our notice was the dense city population, and the block-up traffic of coaches, carts, cabs, carriages, etc., in the streets. The shops are good and prices for most things very cheap, business everywhere looked brisk, and a great deal going on in every quarte of the city, but what the staple business of the city is, except it be the manufacture of wine and macarroni, we could not find out, and it struck us that the city is overcrowded, and may well spare a large contingent for the Plate.

There is a very fine city square, called the Plaza del Plebiscio, where the voting was taken for the union with the kingdom of Italy. The old royal palace is here, a splendid pile, and for years the residence of King Bomba. There is also the round church of San Francisco di Paola. Close to the palace is the famous San Carlos theatre, one of the largest in Europe. The finest plaza is that of the Municipio, which runs down to the mole, with the arsenal and military post on one side and the town hall on the other. There is a splendid statue of the prince of Italian poets, Dante, in the plaza di Dante. The Neapolitans are a fat, frugal people, they rarely eat more than once a day, and hence are so healthy; very little meat is eaten, and the people prefer fish, macarroni, fruit, rice, and vegetables. The oysters of Naples are simply delicious, and they make a fish soup, only to be got in Naples, called zuppa alla marinera, far superior to oxtail or turtle. It seemed to us that the people in Naples are much better fed than in England or Ireland. We visited the Museum, one of the most complete in Europe. The galleries of frescoes and mosaics and the hall of the Emperors, although containing some of the objectionable and immoral frescoes of Pompeii and statues that frighten all the English ladies, are the great centre of attraction; and we advise those who are offended at purely naked art to keep away from those truly magnificent halls. There are some pictures which we feel certain would not be allowed to be hung up in the gallery in London, nor in a shop window, yet they are priceless works of art. We spent the evening driving round the magnificent bay, and here and there came on princely villas of wealthy Englishmen and Americans. Next day we started for Pompeii.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent)

January 5th.

I forgot in my last to wish all the friends of W. P. the compliments of the season, a very naughty omission on my part, considering that there are so many who through friendship or politeness—or shall we say interest?—are called on to read my letters. But good wishes have the same value, that is when they have any value at all, at all seasons of the year.

The Argentine people are decidedly not artistic. They shine not in the arts; they are not enthusiastic lovers of the beautiful or the grand in nature. They go in, it is true, with a vengeance for all objects of luxury in the fine arts, but all these objects are brought from the countries where the fine arts flourish, and they are not admired with the admiration of a connoisseur, but with the satisfaction of ostentation. What attractions have we for intelligent visitors to our shores, even in the wealthy capital of the Republic? None at all. A city of nearly half a million of people has not as much to show, to interest the traveller, as any one of the many small capitals and towns in Europe that one of the STANDARD correspondents is now describing in the columns of that paper—descriptions that have been written and published hundreds of times, but are always fresh and delightful. As Shelley says—"A thing of beauty is a joy for ever"; and thus the buildings, the churches, the monuments, the museums, the galleries of paintings, the parks, the public gardens that are met with so profusely everywhere in the old world, never tire or pall upon the senses.

What have we to show the strangers here—and remember we are not a poor country? There are individuals in Buenos Ayres who could buy up any small principality in Germany or Italy. It is because, as I said at first, there is no love or taste for the artistic. In Buenos Ayres they are satisfied with what is ostentatiously called the Park at Palermo, which in truth is little more than a ragged common. All the large towns in the United States have burying-grounds of several hundred acres in extent, so beautifully laid out that they daily attract thousands of visitors, like Greenwood in New York, or Auburn in Boston. In Buenos Ayres no attempt is made to hide the deformity of Death. They are satisfied with the piled-up enclosure of the Recoleta and the woeful-looking Chacarita. Mr. Alvear, when Intendente, showed some glimmerings of a love for the artistic. His Grotto at the Recoleta will not immortalise him, but it was a move out of a routinary groove.

The Buenos Ayres Port scheme and the La Plata Port are really the only two things in the country we can be proud of, and when finished will be worthy objects to show to the world.

What led me into this train of thought was reading an account of that grand conception of the North Americans, the National Park in Yellowstone, in the far West. What a glorious idea, and how worthy of the greatest nation under the sun! A National Park as large as Belgium, and in which all the grandest characteristics of uncultivated nature are to be found—mountains, ravines, rivers, forests, medieval springs, geysers, lakes and scenery from the awfully sublime to sylvan and quiet valleys. Who but the wonderful race, sprung from the Pilgrim Fathers, the Cavaliers and the best blood of Europe, could have carried out the bold and magnificent conception? They said: "Before the foot of the squatter desecrates this magic territory, we will place the 'broad arrow'—as our cousins, the English, would say—on it, and take possession of it in the name and for the benefit of every man, woman and child in Uncle Sam's dominions, to them and their descendants for all time".

The immense territory will in time be enclosed, and art will be called in to beautify nature when advisable; but the rugged nature and grandeur of the greater part will remain intact. Here it is proposed to preserve the species of Buffalo, which is rapidly becoming exterminated on the vast plains where once, and so recently, they were "lords of all they surveyed."

Now, the Argentines would have been for ever incapable of incubating such a sublime conception, but they at least can follow the example of the North Americans. Canada is about to do so. She is to have a national park somewhere in the vicinity of the Rocky Mountains. Why should not the Argentines have one?

The territory of the Misiones has not all been squandered away yet. It would be easy to make a reservation of a hundred square leagues there for a national park, with a river frontage of, say ten leagues. There is plenty of beautiful scenery up there, mountains, woods, cascades and valleys. It might be laid out alongside of the Iguazu, and then it would have for its principal feature the Victoria Falls, which have scarcely an equal in South America.

In the South there is also a grand locality for a national park in the vicinity of the lovely lake Nahuel Huapi. The park might take in a part or the whole of the lake, and extend into the fastnesses of the Eastern slopes of the Andes.

If this grand idea should be by a happy chance carried out, let it be remembered that the Standard was the first paper in the country that proposed it.

Everyone is complaining of the scarcity of money. Nearly all the disposable money in the Banks has gone into the speculation in lands, that does not benefit the community in any way, but on the contrary makes it difficult for any but the wealthy to build, and has augmented the rent of houses. The mania for gambling is spreading in all directions, the seeds of which were sown in the Bolsa of Buenos Ayres. By the by, the name of Bolsa is not appropriate now. The Exchanges or the Bourse in other countries are respectable societies of the select of the commercial community, where the great financial operations of the nation and the world are incubated; speculation in stocks is of course admitted, but is only a small part of the real business of an Exchange. In Buenos Ayres, there is really no Bolsa. It is a gambling house; so I propose that it shall be called the Monte Carlo of the River Plate.

The great syndicate of Canals & Co. has made a contract with the government to complete the first section of the Rosario Port Works, so that there is a measurable hope of their early completion.

On account of the scarcity of money I have mentioned above, there are few or no advances on wheat, which are so usual at this season of the year. Possibly, there may be a little doubt as to the permanency of prices in the European markets; possible the mania for land speculation has strangled the more legitimate mania of speculation in wheat. At all events, there is little animation compared with former years.

The manager of the Oeste Santafecino, has sent a report of two columns in reference to the fatal accident on that line. After reading it through I was no wiser than I was before. But he says there were only two deaths, (I know of three to a certainty) and five badly burnt. The report throws no ray of light on the origin of the accident, and the whole of it might be condensed into hree or four short paragraphs.

W. P.

Our Mails.

London, December 17.

Further details are telegraphed from Cairo of the letter of the Khalifa to Osman Digna. According to the latest communication Oman Saleh described his captives to the Mahdi as Emin Pasha and "a white traveller named Stanley," who had been sent by the Khedive to Emin. Another traveller who had escaped was also mentioned. The Snider cartridges sent by Osman Digna were, it seems, dated 1869. The Belgian Consul has telegraphed to his Government his belief in the intelligence regarding Emin Pasha, but expressing doubt as to the capture of Stanley.

On Saturday and yesterday General Grenfell made reconnaissances with the Mounted Infantry of the Arab position in front of Suakin on both flanks successively. Our correspondent telegraphs that a capital view of the situation was obtained, and the enemy were found to be numerous. The Arabs fired from the trenches, but did no harm.

On Saturday the Prince and Princess of Wales, who were accompanied by four of their children, opened the Victoria Memorial Hall, Ealing, which has been erected in honour of the Queen's Jubilee. An address was presented, which the Prince cordially acknowledged. In the evening a banquet was held, at which Lord George Hamilton, the member for the parliamentary division, responded to the toast of his health.

In commemoration of their Silver Wedding the Prince and Princess of Wales were presented with a silver shield subscribed for by the people of South Wales. The presentation was made by the Duke of Beaufort. At as early a date as possible the offering will be open to the inspection of the public at the Mansion House.

Mr. Gladstone paid a visit to the East-end on Saturday afternoon, and met with a most enthusiastic reception. Addressing a representative meeting of the local political associations in the Limehouse Town Hall, the right hon. gentleman referred to the secession of Lord Hartington and 130 others from the National Liberal Club as a proof that their cause was advancing, for those who termed themselves Liberal Unionists were the most determined and effective foes they had to deal with. But in the House of Commons these Dissentients, although they always voted with the Government, still sat on the Liberal benches, and this had led to a state of things which he believed was unexampled in Parliament. Mr. Gladstone proceeded to enumerate the various subjects which were ripe, in the opinion of the Liberal party, for legislation; but it was impossible to deal with any of them in a satisfactory manner until the Irish question was solved.

That the system by which Ireland was governed must be changed was felt by everybody, by their opponents as well as themselves, and surely, therefore it would be wise to settle the controversy while yet the national demand was a moderate one.

Mr. Bright's condition yesterday showed a further marked improvement. Some amelioration is at last reported in the constitutional ailment.

In the Queen's Bench Division on Saturday an action was tried for breach of promise of marriage, in which Miss Rachel Keresenbaum sought to recover damages from Mr. Jacob Levy. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for £25.

On Saturday business on the Stock-Exchange was restricted by the fog. Consols were flat and finally ¼ to 5-16 lower. English, American, and Mexican (Vera Cruz) improved. A moderate decline took place in foreign Government bonds. Copper and diamond shares were dull, and South African gold mines irregular.

Vienna Dec. 16

Although the Russian Press is frantic with England for what it represents to be the success of Sir Henry Drummond Wolf's manœuvres, there is excellent reason to believe that the "Persian incident" will not lead to difficulties of any kind. It may, indeed be already considered as finally disposed of. A second diplomatic note was despatched early last week from St. Petersburg to the Russian Legation at Teheran, but it is believed to have referred less to the past than to the future. The Russian Government knows that the measures connected with the navigation of the river Karun cannot be recalled, so it has confined itself to addressing a sharp warning to the Shah against making further concessions to England. At one moment a demonstration may have been contemplated. Several conferences did in fact take place between certain high officials of the Ministry of war and the Foreign Office; but the Czar himself is opposed to any action calculated to bring about a serious conflict with foreign Powers. The outcry in the Muscovite Press has very little effect in the country, and none at all outside Russia.

Admiral Sir William M. Dowell on Saturday hoisted his flag on board the Cambridge on taking over the duties as Commander-in-Chief of Devenport, in succession to Admiral Lord John Hay, promoted to the rank of Admiral of the Fleet.

THE BUENOS AYRES PORT WORKS

Jan. 12th 1889

To the Editor of the Standard

Sir

In to-day's Standard it appears that important alterations are proposed in the construction of the Port Works, and that the estimated extra cost ($700,000) will be more than covered by the value of land reclaimed, which, as also appears, has been considerably underestimated.

That the most eminent Engineers and Contractors may have to modify their plans in such great undertakings is nothing strange, more especially in a foreign country of which they can have but a slight knowledge; and perhaps we may yet learn that docks, enclosed by gates, in front of the city will be an intolerable nuisance, unless this part of the plan is also modified; when an epidemic breaks out here, the shipping is cleared out of the Riachuelo, although a running stream, and flushed by heavy floods.

Why not have constructed a breakwater, as was suggested in the Standard in the year 1872, and, if my memory is correct, in the London Engineer; thus providing a safe and commodious harbour in front of the city; this plan would be less costly and would have the further advantage of utilizing all the reclaimed land within the sea-wall now in course of construction, instead of discounting the space to be occupied by docks and bridges; and furthermore, there would be no stagnant water immediately in front of the city. Surely this would be a better use to make of the River Plate than the construction of a maritime city, as now proposed, in front of the docks.

James Haddock

It was known yesterday that Vice-President Pelligrini had a long chat by wire with Dr. Derqui, the Interventor in Mendoza; and it was generally said that the whole Pickwickian affair will be arranged before the middle of this week.

Another Italian colleague has jumped into the E. B.: Gl'Italiani al Plata. We wish it success. Fresh from the sunny, lovely Cradle of the Fine Arts and European Civilization, we take an added interest now in everything Italian in the River Plate.

INSPECTOR PREISWERK'S REPORT — THE GRAND CENTRAL TERMINUS. MEETING OF THE NORTH WEST ARGENTINE SHAREHOLDERS.

Another report was received from Inspector Preiswerk yesterday by Dr. Araoz. The Inspector complains of the eternal irregularities in the service. The passenger-trains, however, are not so irregular as the 'goods'. The permanent way is excellent, and has not suffered in the least by the rains, which of late have been pretty general all over the country. The Gastona bridge will be completed soon. The engines Sud-America and Lavalle are not well kept and are in need of immediate overhauling. The rolling stock is in prime condition, with the exception of a few waggons which are what Messrs. Five-Lille's engineers might term "passables." The telegraph service is as usual very bad, and sufficient care is not taken in lighting up the carriages.

There is some chance of the Grand Central Terminus being taken in hands soon, as we learned last evening that the Board of Public Works have fixed the conditions for the building of this Station. These conditions have been submitted to the Home-Minister for approval, and it is likely the call for bids will be made before the end of the month. The terminus is urgently needed, since the Central Station is altogether too small. Nearly 200 trains per diem enter the Central, and a railway-Napoleon is required to keep everything in order.

Messrs. Murrieta and Co. have shipped railway-material to the value of £9,667 per Hogarth for the Central Northern Extensions.

Inspector Dix's report for the last week of December on the Central Argentine was received yesterday by Dr. Araoz. No irregularities occurred in the service, with the exception of a slight delay caused by one engine not being of sufficient strength to drag a goods train. During the week 55 locomotives were at work. The permanent way and rolling-stock were in good repair.

By our latest London exchanges we see that December was a fruitful month in meetings. Nothing, we suppose, is better calculated to enhance the prospect of a jolly Christmas than a good, reassuring report from the chairman. The North West Argentine, a section of which was opened only the other day, has taken the tide at the flood, and holds its meetings in Cannon Street Hotel, which is the Railway rendezvous "par excellence" and must by this time exhale a pleasant perfume of state guarantees and fat dividends. The Chairman's report, we note, was received with enthusiasm, and for the benefit of our readers here, we extract the following two paragraphs:—

"With regard to the progress which has been made in the construction of the works, it is stated that the first section from La Madrid to Santa Ana has been opened. It has received the approbation of the government. The Governor spoke of the character of the works in very flattering terms when he went to open the line personally, and afterwards in his address to the Chambers. That section is a length of about 30 miles. The next section that is about to be opened is from Santa Ana. The line is now opened from La Madrid to Santa Ana, and I may remark here that this portion of the line is not such a richly-cultivated district as prevails in the northern portion. The next section which is nearly ready for opening, and which may be opened, for anything I know, next month—as the resident engineer has wired that it may be opened by the end of this month—will be to Concepcion. The line is actually laid and the engines now passing over it, and it only waits for the completion of one bridge, which is expected to be—and is probably—finished by this time, to enable us to apply to the Government for a formal and official sanction for the opening of that portion of the line—(Applause).

"We have, as you know, opened the 30 miles, and the engines are working on that portion of the line, and the traffic—considering that line does not connect with any important terminus—I think the receipts fully justify the anticipations we originally held out and now hold with regard to the future prospects of our line—(Applause). It must be remembered that the service at present is a spasmodic one which has to be carried on whilst the operations of the construction are going on; we have our own traffic to carry as well as the public traffic. A larger number of passengers are taking advantage of it than we expected to be the case with such an isolated portion of the line—(applause)—and I may state in the presence of a Director of the Central Argentine Railway Company that the receipts even now under the most unfavorable circumstances per mile per week are greater than were the receipts of the Central Argentine traffic when its first sections were opened—(Applause). It must be remembered that the line does not reach the heart of the sugar producing portion of the Southern part of the province of Tucuman. That may be considered to commence at the town of Concepcion."

The resolutions of the Argentine Great Western Railway, which we anticipated some time ago in this column, were confirmed at the meeting held in London on Dec. 12th. In regard to this concern, a railway exchange says:

"The recent action of the Argentine Government towards this Company does not appear in a very favourable light now that the true facts are known. The Government threatened to divert the guarantee if the equipment were not placed on a better footing; but this is a line taken over from the Government, and out of the 41 locomotives only three were found in fair condition. Apart from this, Sir George Russell, Bart., M.P., the chairman, questions the legality of such action on the part of the Government under the contract. They could fine, he says, but could not take the law in their own hands in the summary manner talked about. However, the company mean to supply any deficiency, and have already, spent £130,000 on new engines and rolling-stock, and the guarantee has been paid. It has been decided to borrow a sum not exceeding £500,000 in 4½ per cent. equipment and improvement debenture stock".

"Lo de Mendoza" fills the papers, and will probably continue to do so for some time. On Saturday evening a rumour ran through town that Colonel Ortega had been "removed" and "done for," but it happily proved false. There is a Lord Dundreary hue about the whole of this political rumpus which "no fellaw can understand."

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Matters in general yesterday (including the weather) were as pleasant and cool as the famous historical garment of our distinguished countryman, Bryan O'Lynn. There was no further distressing hygienic news from Rio. Telegrams from Montevideo stated (but who can believe a telegram?) that Boss Reus is selling his landed property in order to put more steam into the boiler of the Compañia Nacional.

We're awfully shocked. The Paraguayan Consul in Stockholm is "wanted" by the Swedish police for mistaking another, or rather several other men's names for his own on the back of bills. His name is Wimmermark, and he is a marked man. We take this distressing news from the Diario.

All the swimmers in town are agog about the great Swimming Tournament to come off this day week in Monsieur Cabanette's Baths in Calle Balcarce. More about it in our next. We have no doubt as to this "fiesta" coming off swimmingly.

A little Frenchman had to do the same thing on Friday night in Calle Cangallo as the big Englishman did the other day in the Confiteria del Gas, viz., defend his wife from the insults of a lot of black guards—his own countrymen. The plucky little Gaul gave them a touch of "la savatte", and sent several of them spinning; but would have been badly mauled by overpowering numbers had not the cowards been touched by the appeals of his wife not to injure him. No lot of Englishmen, even when on the offending side, would have permitted two against one, much less half a dozen. "Fair play is a jewel", they say in old Ireland.

The Nacional of yesterday evening hinted broadly at the discovery of a dreadful crime in La Plata—a young girl made away with in a shocking and mysterious manner.

The races postponed from last week have again been put off, in consequence of the flooded state of the Lanus course.

"The cry is still, they come". The latest reported hippic celebrity on the way to this Paradise of horses is Tenebreuse the winner of the last Czarewitch. On the other hand, it is authoritatively stated that Ormonde has not been sold for this country.

The Emperor of Brazil has consented to accept a present from Chile in recognition of his services as arbitrator in the differences between that country, Peru and

The Naval School boys, officers and crew on board the Argentine troop-ship Argentina are having a "high old time" of it in Chile. At every port they enter they are lionized and pass their time in dining, dancing and "divarsion" of all kinds. The Chilian girls are all "off their heads" about their gallant young Argentine visitors.

We find the following paragraph in a London society exchange:

One of our distinguished diplomatists, who is also an ex-official, is at present in a state of great perturbation. The Gods whose duty it is to distribute personal attractions were off on a holiday when he was born; but this, of course, he cannot be expected to know. As a compensation for his misfortune he has had the good luck to marry a beautiful wife, and, having accidently heard that in the world he and his wife go by the name of Beauty and the Beast, he wanders about asmarking to chance acquaintances, "I say, can you imagine why people call my wife a beast?"

An elderly lady in Calle Rioja went slap into a sink on Thursday, through standing on the rotten iron railing that covered it. She disappeared from the upper air with the rapidity of a patomime clown through a trap-door. Fortunately, assistance was at hand, and she was hauled out, little the worse for her dirty-water bath.

The German Post-office recently rejected to a Hamburg merchant a parcel he addressed to "La Plata, Argentine Republic," with a note to the effect that there was no such place on the face of the globe!! Bismarck, where art thou?

Lady (to shopman): "I want to look at something that would be a suitable Christmas gift for my husband." Shopman: "Yes, madam; something cheap, I s'pose?"

The Montevidean Jockey Club appear to have made a good start. There are already 200 members, who have paid $100 each entrance money.

We see in the Field an account sent from Rosario of the Polo Match there in November, when two ponies were killed, and Mr. Jewell had a narrow escape of playing first fiddle at his own funeral next morning. Our sporting English contemporary has of late published a good deal about this country, most of it agreeable sporting news, seasoned now and then with some sublime bosh about politics and finance, evidently penned or inspired by parties who know more about Polo, Lawn Tennis and other manly and womanly games than about the theory and practice of government.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON

Udolpho Wolfe's Son & Co. Secure the Exclusive Right to the Trade-mark or Label "W. A. S."—The Imitation thereof is Felony.

It is learned from Washington that the United States Patent Office has granted, under date of October 9th instant, to the famous house of Udolpho Wolfe's Son & Co., the exclusive right to a label having the words "W. A. S." as applied to schnapps. This label has been used on the top of every bottle of the "Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps" for nearly ten years past, but it is only now that the title has been registered. It is done for the better protection of the house and their customers, and the reporter who writes this article learns that Messrs Udolpho Wolfe's Son & Co. intend to prosecute with the utmost severity of the law, all infringements upon their rights in this label. Their schnapps has been upon the market for forty years past, and it is now sold and used in every part of the World. There is no other article of the kind that is worthy of being compared with it, so great is its merit. Its purity is absolute and invariable, and this is the basis upon which its wonderful and world-wide popularity has been built up. In the hands of medical men it has worked wonders—and in point of fact it is one of the most valuable additions to the modern "materia medica" at present known to science.

Owing to the enormous demand for this article unscrupulous parties have been led to imitate, and in future, purchasers would do well to see that the letters "W. A. S." are on the bottle. To imitate this label is felony.

SHEEP DIPPING POWDER.

It has been in use since the year 1843 and is now used upon more than 50,000,000 sheep every year
Equally good for Dipping or Handcuring.

Guarranted always the same Strength.

Read what estancieros say of it;

GEO. BELL, "Estancia Grande," Pereira
I have found it the best I have ever used. my sheep are perfectly sound, and these condition and the good look of the wool I attribute to the above Dip.

R. JACOB, Pergamino
I shall not cease to express my opinion that Cooper's Dip is without rival its results as well as for its cheapness.

ERNESTO MADERA. Maipu
The result obtained has been so satisfactory that I think it difficult to find a better and more certain remedy.

THOS. BOLLAND, "Flor de Mayo," Pergamino
None has give me such satisfactory results as Cooper's Powders.

TEODORO PETERSON, "La Belgica," Ayacucho
Cooper's Powders have given me a better result than any remedy I have used yet.

GEO. E. CATTY, "El Divisorio," Bahia Blanca.
I have used Cooper's Powders for three years with the very best results on the cure of scab, and I consider that my wool has improved in appearance since I ave used it.

There was very little animation to-day at the ring, neither bulls nor bears manifesting any strong desire to push matters very actively. The features of the gold market are still undeniably bullish; rates are advancing, and already there are signs of tension in the speculation for end of month, there being a difference of 20 cents in favour of cash, which promises to grow larger as the liquidation looms closer. There is no doubt that a fall in rates is still extremely possible. There are such good sellers at 150 that buyers have been scared off, and as the quotation cannot go up, it will probably sink until the actual pressure of the "descubierto" at the liquidation comes to be felt. As for stocks, they are all weak to a degree. Even the sovereign stock is shaky at 269, in spite of the widespread conviction that a "boom" is brewing. Credito Real, Constructora, La Plata Moles, and all the smaller fry are tottering to a fall.

Operations in gold at the first ring embraced about 1½ million dollars, of which 441,350 were required for cash, the quotations opening at 149.80, falling to 60, advancing again to 90, and closing at 149.70. For end of month $540,000 were noted, opening at 149.90, fluctuating between 149.80 and 150, and closing at 149.80 buyers. For end of February $310,000 were sold, opening and closing at 150.20. In National Bank Shares only 400 were sold at 269.50 and 269, closing sellers. Credito Real are weak and neglected at 163, and La Plata Moles at 127. Pobladora Scrip keeps firm at 94, and Constructors were a trifle firmer at 135. All round, however, stocks are downcast, only Cedulas shewing a bold front to the speculation.

The following is a summary of operations effected this morning at the first ring:—

The rise in lands in the neighbourhood of the Riachuelo is, strange as it may seem, more accentuated than in any other part of the capital, due chiefly to the two great canal projects, which will turn unhealthy swamps into smiling "parterres." One of these projects, the Paul y Angulo concession, has been negotiated in this market, on the basis of shares for the promoters' rights, and the other, the General Pobladora, by far the most important, is in treaty with Mr. Huergo, the eminent engineer, for $800,000, which will be sunk in the business. Rumour has it that on the 31st inst. there will be a meeting of shareholders, at which it will be proposed to declare a dividend of $30 per share, 70 paid up, that is to say a dividend equal to 66 o|o. The Municipality is about to pave the Boulevard Boedo as far as the new slaughter-grounds, which will, no doubt, when effected, put a new spurt into lands, although the latter have, on a moderate calculation, already risen 130 o|o since the canals and paving were first mooted.

Montevideo advices announce a greatly improved state of affairs on the Bolsa, and values tallying, especially the National Credit Company's Shares. It is reported that an important Paris banking firm is about to open a branch there with a capital of several millions. Mr. Matthew Victorica has purchased the Oriental Hotel for $130,000, and contemplates purchasing the building alongside, now occupied by the Bolsa, which he will join on to the hotel and start a first-class establishment. Mr. Sunday Lamas has purchased a lot of camp for $600,000 gold.

Business on the Rosario Bolsa in gold is fast and furious, already totalling over a ½ million gold dollars daily. Yesterday $700,000 were sold at the rings and 100,000 afterwards, all for end of month and end of February. Not a cent was required for cash, and not a stock of any description changed hands, which makes it quite apparent that the speculation fever has seized our sober neighbours. The construction of the Cadenas Bridge has been definitely decided on; it will measure 450 metres in length, 10 in breadth, and 6 in height. The rural tram project from Susana Colony has been approved.

Business in the second hour would have been quiet, but for the attempt of the bulls to cross the Rubicon—150. This, however, they failed to do, as immense amounts were hurled at the premium at every advance on that rate, which eventually brought the premium down to 149.90 for Monday and 150 for end of month, closing with buyers and sellers at these rates. Stocks were weak and neglected, with exception of cedulas.

The discount market is reported still tight, though paper with good signatures is negotiated at 9 o|o.

Parties arrived from Rauch announce the camps in that partido soaked with the rain and the rivers all overflowing their banks. It rained at one time over 20 hours without ceasing. The grasses are so luxuriant and rank that it is apprehended there will be an alarming increase of mortality in the flocks and herds.

Arrivals in the Once this morning shewed a slight increase, though they are still far from large. A lot from the partido Alvear was sold to-day by Messrs. Cerro, Gonzalez and Co. at 4.75 m|n per 10 kilos.

The arrivrls in the South Market were greatly reduced, probably owing to the impassable state of the roads in the south of the province.

A few days ago allusion was made to the advance of property in Pergamino. The following may be taken as another instance. Messrs Salazar bought a chacra 3 years ago for 1200 dollars, and after working it till now with a net gain of the original capital invested have sold their property for 8,800 m|n, or say 220 dollars a square, the holding containing some 40 squares. The advance of values in the district is said to be general.

The Live Stock Journal contains the following interesting items:—

"On 1st December, Mr. M. Culloch, Burnhead House, Lockerbie, shipped per steamer Bellarden, from Liverpool to Montevideo, the 3-year-old Hereford bull, Textuary, purchased from the Earl of Coventry. Textuary is a prize-winner, and gained in 1886 the 2nd prize Gloucester Agricultural Society's Show, in 1887 second prize Hereford Agricultural Society, and in 1888 reserve third at the Royal Agricultural Society of England, besides other prizes, being a massive, level, well-fleshed bull, and, at three years old weighs 1 ton 3 cwt., and only moderately fed. Another fine young Hereford bull sent is Memento. This bull won the reserve prize at the Hereford Breeders' Show in spring last in a class of fifty-two young bulls, and is considered to be a very promising show young bull. A handsome throughbred two-years-old filly, Lady Ellen, bred by Sir Robert Jardine, Bart., M.P. She ran first for the Speculation Stakes at Pontefract in May last, and ran second for the Rous Stakes at York. She is out of Miss Poole, by Fitz James, is half-sister to Sir R. Jardine's Fitz-Rover, winner of the £1,600 foal Stakes at Manchester in May last. There were also shipped three well-bred Clydesale mares, selected out of Misses Johnston's stud, Dumfries, and another mare Nora, winner of second prize Annan, bought from M. Pool, of Milnefield, Annan. Nora is in foal to Mr. Chalmer's blood horse Le Capitan. On board there were several others—Shire stallions, Shorthorns, and Polled Angus bulls."

—Mr. P. Donou has been offered £2400 for Stuart, the winner of the French Derby and Grand Prix de Paris, but declined the offer after some hesitation, not because he puts an exaggerated value upon his horse, but because he is reluctant to sell him, especially for exportation to Buenos Ayres.

The sale is reported of 4000 fanegas of wheat from Porvenir Colony at 3.60 Oriental dollars the fanega, buyer Mr J Carzolio, Paysandu, sellers Ferrari Bros.

Advices from Azul bring the news of the granaries of Mr. Riviere's flour mill having been burnt to the ground. The mill itself and dwelling escaped intact, and the cause is unknown. Unfortunately it appears that the premises destroyed are not covered by insurance, as the insurance policy was hanging fire owing to the owner bargaining for a reduction in the premium.

The fine steamer Calabria of the Gellatly line sailed from Antwerp on 10th inst direct for B. Ayres with 1,500 Emigrants. The Calabria formerly belonged to the Cunard Co. and is a very quick and handsome steamer. The Agents here are Messrs Samson & Co.

A telegram was received from the Bolsa correspondent in London to-day announcing the lowering of the Bank of France rate to 4 o|o. A more important piece of news still from the same source is the announcement that a new banking concern, styled the London-Argentino, is being started, probably in emulation of the magnificent results attained by the London and English banks. To whatever cause it may be due, the news created a most favorable impression in the market.

Bolsa Bank shares are not quoted on the black board, though several transactions were spoken of to-day at 15 o|o premium for February.

S|s Lochiel of the Houston Line leaves for Pernambuco to receive a full cargo of wool and cotton.

Freights are quoted firm, though for steamers there is said to be not over much cargo offering, and it is conjectured that a good deal is going forward in sailing vessels.

The following telegrames are published by the Tribuna Nacional:—

London, Jan. 10th (delayed)—Argentine 1871 Loan, 6 o|o, up 1 o|o to 103 o|o. 1884 Loan advanced ½ o|o to 95½ o|o. Argentine Hard Dollars, 6 o|o, closed at 68 o|o. No change in Colonial wool market. Australian washed, superior quality for combing, commands 34½d. the lb. Medium quality, unwashed, obtains 9½d. the lb.

Paris, 10th (delayed)—Provincial Cedulas E, 6 o|o, are quoted at 107 o|o. Tallow market quiet. "Boucherie" is still quoted at 81 francs the 100 kilos.

Bordeaux, 10th—Sheepskin market keeps firm. Buenos Aires long wool quoted at 152½ francs the 100 kilos unwashed.

Genoa, 10th (delayed)—No change in dry-hide market. B. Aires novillos command 90 francs the 50 kilos.

Havre 10th (delayed)—River Plate wool market dull, and little business in wools for delivery. Buenos Aires "bonne á belle" quality, 38 o|o yield, is quoted at 1.75 francs the kilo unwashed for delivery.

Antwerp, 10th (delayed)—River Plate wool market a trifle brisker, with a slightly firmer feeling in prices for delivery. B. Aires medium, 36 o|o yield, quoted at 1.60 francs the kilo unwashed. No change in tallow market. River Plate cow tallow is quoted at 82 francs the 100 kilos. Buenos Aires potro-hair, good class, mixed to ordinary, is quoted at 1.47½ francs the half kilo.

The statutes of the Compañia Popular de Seguros y Economias have been approved by Government.

Mr. Perrièr, C. E. has forwarded to the Board of Public Works a very lengthy report on the boring of wells at Paganso in Rioja. He says that Messrs. Igarzabal have gone to a deal of trouble and expense in boring wells on that famous property, which, it is said, contains the richest coalfields in the country. It is strange, however, that so far Messrs. Igarzabal have only found thermal waters, of good medicinal properties. Rich layers of coal have been found while boring for water. We may add, on the authority of Mr. Perrièr, that the average cost of boring a well up there is $3,000. Although Messrs. Igarzabal have not yet been able to find potable water, the fact seems pretty clearly proved that there is a subterranean current of water in the province of Rioja, and no doubt success is bound to crown the efforts of the enterprising owners of the Paganzo coal-fields.

Passengers arrived by P.S.N.C. steamer Araucania, still in quarantine:—Mr A. M. Hudson, Mr. W. J. Hill' Mr. and Mrs. Haigh and child, Mr. R. Savony, Mr. C. Von Iffinger, Miss Von Iffinger, Mr. L.
